Dear Sirs,

I have been informed that Professor Candela of your University has proposed the creation of "International Center for Animal Law and Policy" (ICALP). This would be a wonderful and much needed development. Centers of this type have helped to propel real change in the law governing the human treatment of animals around the globe (see, for example the wonderful work of the Center for Animal Law Studies at Lewis and Clark, in Portland, Oregon). I attended the Global Animal Law Conference last year, and was thrilled to join with scholars from across the world in learning about new challenges and ideas. The creation of a Center will build upon the momentum of the conference, creating a focal point for all of us working in this area. I myself am spending a sabbatical in Europe during 2016-2017, and the presence of a Center would be a real attraction for me. Professor Candela has proven her dedication to this area of law and the creation of a Center will allow a more visible platform for the world to see her leadership in the academic world of Animal Law.

Thanks you for your consideration of this important proposal. I am happy to provide additional detail regarding my thoughts should you so desire.

Best regards,
